High Net Worth Individuals Can
Now Get 80% Financing When Purchasing A Private Jet

WESTON, FL. (April 26, 2015) – Just because your wealthy doesn't mean you are obligated to tie up all your cash into the plane you have always wanted.

“Most jet buyers don't want to put their cash to work in a plane, they have better uses for it but they still want the plane, ” said Gary Lesnik, Principal of Avon Aviation, LLC.

“So, we help buyers secure 80% financing for their jets which in the past was notoriously difficult as banks just were not willing to do this for private aircraft, no matter how wealthy you are. Our relationships make this and other favorable terms possible for buyers.“

Avon Aviation is a full service private jet management company that helps in all aspects of owning private aircraft, from sourcing the aircraft, to “negotiating the purchase, assisting with financing and that is where our expertise really separates us from others, “ said Lesnik. “”But , “ Mr. Lesnik maintains, “our work and value, doesn't stop there, as we help enroll the aircraft into a lease program with a large national carrier with whom we have a long term relationship. As a result, owners can offset much of the cost of ownership including flying the jet with contractually guaranteed monthly revenue.”

Avon Aviation is able to leverage their jet expertise and relationships for all aspects of the private jet ownership and pass that value on to the owner in terms of better financing options and guaranteed monthly revenue through an innovative lease programs.

So, as Avon Aviation, likes to say, “just because you have it, doesn't mean you have to spend it.”
